These receipts will show the number of pounds and packages, and also the amount of money paid the Railroad Company.

Buying for our Five California Stores, we are enabled to purchase larger quantities than can be handled to advantage by any one retail firm. Compare qualities well when making purchases; for it pays to see that profits are not tacked on too steep in some lines and lower in others to meet competition. We are positive that a careful comparison of values and prices can do no harm, but have every reason to believe that the more you compare and the more careful you are in buying, the more of your trade will we secure.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.]

DOMESTIC NEWS.

Death of General George B. McClellan.

NEWARK (N. J.), October 29th.-General George B. McClellan, ex-commander of the army of the United States, died suddenly this morning, at 10 minutes past 2, from exhaustion, produced by repeated shocks of neuralgia of the heart, at his home on Oranga mountain. Though he had people orange mountain. Though he had nearly completed his 59th year, he had preserved not only buoyant spirits, but a buoyant, youthful agility. Therefore, when he began, youthful agility. Therefore, when he began, about three weeks ago, to feel pains in the heart, neither he nor his medical man, Dr. Seward, of Orange, nor any of his family, regarded the matter as serious. He and everyone else believed yesterday that the troublesome malady was either gone for good or at least for a long time. In that belief the General ordered his carriage yesthe unerring signs of approaching collapse, and whispered to Mrs. McClellan: "I fear he is dying." It was but too true. General McClellan raised himself up on one hand, half opened his eyes, and fell back lead. No arrangement is well as the second of the collapse. ead. No arrangements have yet been nade for the funeral. THE PRESIDENT'S SYMPATHY. Washington, October 29th.—The Presi-ent sent the following telegram of con-olence to Mrs. McClellan to-day: Washington, October 29th.

To Mrs. George B. McClellan, Orange, N.J.: I am shocked by the news of your husband's death, and while I know how futile are all human efforts to console, I must apprise you of my deep sympathy in your great grief, and express to you my own sense of affliction at the loss of so good a friend.

GROUND CLEMEL AND GROVER CLEVELAND.

The President has ordered that flags upon all buildings of the Executive Department be placed at balf-mast until after the EXECUTIVE ORDER. Washington, October 29th.—The follow-

g Executive order was issued to-day: EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, October 29th.)
The death of George B. McClellan, at one time Major-General commanding the armies of the United States, took place at an early hour this morning. As a mark of respect to the memory of this distinguished soldier and citizan, whose military ability and civic virtues have shed luster upon the history of his country, it is ordered by the President that the national flag be displayed at half mast upon all buildings of the executive departments in this city until after his funeral shall have taken place.

DANIEL S. LAMONT, Private Secretary.

GENERAL ORDER. EXECUTIVE MANSION,

GENERAL ORDER.

The following general order was issued WAR DEPARTMENT,

WASHINGTON, October 29th.

With profound regret the Secretary of War amnounces to the army the death of General George B. McClellan, formerly Major-General commanding the Army of the United States, which occurred at Orange, N. J., this morning. The name and fame of this distinguished soldier and citizen is known and honored throughout the republic. As the organizer of the Army of the Potomac, he made it capable of accomplishing great deeds. The lessons gave it were never iorgotten, and the spirit with which he animated it continued through all the eventful history. Subsequently, as its leader, he rendered great service to his country. His pure and noble character, his unselfish devotion and the duty he performed in the hour of peril, will cause his memory ever to be cherished with pride by the people of the United States.

WILLIAM C. ENDICOTT, Secretary of War.

GOVERNOR ABBEETT, OF NEW JERSEY. WAR DEPARTMENT

GOVERNOR ABBETT, OF NEW JERSEY. NEWARK (N. J.), October 29th.-Govrnor Abbett has sent the following tele-ram to Mrs. McClellan:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
TRENTON, October 23t
TRENTON, October 23t DEAR MADAM: I have just learned with shusband. I speak not only for myself but for the people of New Jersey, who will join in universal mourning for the loss of a pure upright citizen and great soldier. I wish n

Adjutant-General William N. Striker to as tain your wishes, so the action of the Execu may be in full sympathy with your own;

ALMOST AN OFFICIAL AGAIN. It is definitely learned to-day that Gen. McClellan came very near being made a member of President Cleveland's Cabinet; that he was tendered the Russian mission and declined it because of business engage nents, and that within the past twenty four hours the President had concluded to offer him an appointment as a member of the Civil Service Commission.

THE GENERAL IN FRONT OF RICHMOND,

CHICAGO, October 29th .- Major Joseph Kirkland, of this city, who was a member of McClellan's staff at the time the latter was Commander-in-Chief of the army, said, in commander in the army, san, in an interview to-day, that he believed, if no change had been made from Washington in General McClellan's plans, he would have taken Richmond in the first peninsular have taken kichmond in the first peninsular campaign. "McClellan protested," he said, "against being recalled to Washington, and begged to be empowered to continue the attack on Richmond." Major Kirkland military genius, and referred repeatedly to the love his men bore him, on account of his humanity and solicitude as to their wel

SENSATION PROMISED. NEW YORK, October 29th.-Though no definite arrangements in regard to the funeral of General McClellan have been made, it is probable that the services will be held in the Madison Square Presbyter-ian Church on Monday, and the interment The family have been deluged with mes The lamily have been deluged with messages of condolence from all parts of the country and from Europe.

General Fitz John Porter says though General McClellan's personal recollections were burned, he succeeded in producing most of them, that they will be published soon, and that they will create a stir equal to that carried by the published so that carried by the published so.

THE FUNERAL-MESSAGES OF CONDOLENCE-to that caused by the publication of De pew's letter on the Grant-Johnson matter The Atlantic and Pacific Railroad. New York, October 29th .- A statemen s made officially that the Atlantic and Pa cific Company will have its connection with the Southern Pacific completed within the next two weeks. This will make the ison, Topeka and Santa Fe route, and wil add very largely, it is believed, to the carn western outlet, and has therefore been de pendent entirely upon its local business It will, it is said, be an active competitor the Union Pacific Company National Temperance Society. New York, October 29th.-The Na emperance Society to-night, at Chickerin Hall, extended a reception to Archdeacor Farrar, Judge Noch Davis, John B. Gough Cyrus W. and David Dudley Field, and Bishops Harris, Foss, Warren and Fowle ngs of the Atlantic and Pacific Compan which up to the present time has had t

Petersburg, October 29th. — Senator Sherman spoke here to-night, in the Academy of Music, to a crowded audience. The stage was filled with white people, while the body of the building and gal-leries were occupied by colored people, the outskirts of the crowd being fringed with white people. Senator Sherman was introuced by General Mahone as the foremost heart and love for every State in the Union, and for the whole country, he bore cordial testimony. General Mahone esteemed it a great honor to have the privilege of intro-ducing the distinguished Senator from Ohio to a Virginian audience. He came here, he said, to address the reason, and here, he said, to address the reason, and not the prejudices, of the people, and he bespoke for him a cordial greeting and a respectful hearing. Senator Sherman was cordially greeted, and accorded a most respectful and attentive hearing. He began by stating that it had been said of him that he was waving the bloody shirt. If it was meant by waving the bloody shirt that he had sought to renew the animosities of the war, then there was a graye mistake, for war, then there was a grave mistake, for he had constantly said that the war was over, and its animosities should be buried out of sight: that he would not hold any Confederate soldier responsible for what he did during the war, and that all he wished was to preserve the acknowledged results of considerate soldier responsible for what he troublesome malady was either gone for good or at least for a long time. In that belief the General ordered his carriage yesterday morning, drove to Orange, accompanied by his only daughter, saw several gentlemen on business, and made an appointment with one of them for 11 o'clock to-day. He returned home in excellent spirits, are heartily at his meal hours, and retired to rest. About 11 o'clock the pains returned, and a messenger on horseback was dispatched down the hill for the doctor, who came back with the least possible delay. When he entered the bedroom of the General, he found the patient in extreme agony. The paroxysms returned, and the homeopathic remedies, which by skill of the doctor were suggested, were no more efficient than those which had been supplied by the intelligent affection of General McClellan's wife and daughter, who had administered to him unceasingly from the first alarm. For four hours he suffered the most excruciating agony. About 3 o'clock there was a change. The eyes of the patient began to grow brighter, and his face, that had been white with pain, began to recover its usual ruddy hue. He gave a iong, deep sigh of relief, smiled family, and said: "I feel easy now. Thank God, I have pulled through." Then he sank back upon his pillow as if exhausted, closing his eyes. The doctor, who was watching his face with extreme solicitude, saw the unerring signs of approaching collapse, and whispered to Mrs. McClellan: "I fear ent as to many of the just and necessary bjects, the speaker cited the policy ection of home industries, and after ng upon the opposition of the De party to that policy, said the Republican party plainly and strongly announces its purpose to protect all forms of American industry, not only of the workship, but of the farm, by levying dues on foreign goods that can be manufactured or produced in this from sharp and undue competition, and in ime reduces to the consumers the price o enormous water power of Viyour coal and iron, the furnace, rolling mill and innumerable manufactures, based ipon the proximity of coal, iron, wool and botton. He then characterized the Demoeratic party as at sea upon the tariff, with Carlisle, Tucker, Morrison and Hurd pullng one way, and Randail and others the one way, and kandall and others the other, as proposing nothing, doing nothing, being nothing, except an incumbrance on the national life of our country. The Senator went on to say that the Democrats, after waiting for twenty-five years, had finally gotten into power on the plea of "turning the rascals out," and added that, instead of turning the rascals out, they have put rascals g the rascals out, they have put rascals Mr. Cleveland, often, no doubt, misled nd deceived, has appointed more peniten-iary and jail-birds in his eight months an were appointed in the whole twenty-

on. GENERAL M'CLELLAN. By the death of General George B. McClellan another of the prominent figmoved from earthly scenes of action. General McClellan was a soldier of the nation highest grade of courage and the broadest measure of wisdom and discretion. His loyalty and bravery no man ever quesarts. He was a thoroughly cultured soldier, one of the products of the Republic's military system of education. His gallantry and personal courage were tested in the Mexican war, when he won promotion and honors, which he wore with becoming modesty. As an engineer officer and constructor he had but few peers among modbrought him into command of the Army of the Potomac were not fortunate for him. The successes he had theretofore achieved action on his part as would have brought the war to a speedy close. That he lacked of a great army opposed to another great army, was early manifest. As commander of all the armies, he failed to inspire the country with confidence in his ability to resist the rebel forces, and his retiracy to private life before the rebellion was ended he manifested in the Virginia campaign. But when this is said, it is no impeachand farsightedness of Grant in the conduct of a war against desperate hosts. He has been expressed, which the successful General is at critical times called upon to assume. He lacked that dogged perseverance and tenacity of purpose and determination to do or ignominiously fail in the doing, which made Grant what he was. He was over-cautious for a successful General, and in this was his chief weakness. The impartial historian finds the facts as to General McClellan's plans and theories of the Virginia campaign to be matters involving issues, but which the great judgment of the country has settled to its own satisfaction, and against the judgment of McClellan. We remember that he never had the support Grant received, and that his army organacy from military life. BOYCOTTING CHINESE.

The question is now seriously debated by the press whether the boycotting process may not be the best method to adopt MORE FRAUDULENT CUSTOMin treating the Chinese evil. It is as certain as that the sun shines that so long as we continue to patronize the Chinese to the exclusion of white labor and manufacture we shall not be free from the effects of Chinese encroachments. There is no moral or business obligation that requires us to buy of those who expose their wares at the cheapest rate. There are consideraions that make the cheaper article often oring the question home to himself, and each a conclusion favorable to Chinese operative and producer one does that which which he cannot have social converse, and which does not contribute to his own industry, he does that which must eventually affect him directly and injuriously, for our nterests as a people are interdependent. The desire of every man is to have for his neighbors those who contribute to his own advancement and prosperity. The Chinese in no respect do this, save in the case of large capitalists who finds immediate money reward in patronizing the servile class. Let us suppose a section of country -and more than one of which we can point out-where the white laborer is so completely excluded by Chinese that the region is "Chinaized," as the term is. The social condition of that region is unenviable. Save through the homes of the few proprietors, there is no contrioution to the essentials of civilized life. As a result, all the influences that go to make up American character are eliminated from such a section. There is no aintenance of or contribution-or but to a mited extent-to churches, schools, newsapers, modern literature, the drama or American manufactures, while the idea of trious and assimilative class, who add to the material strength of American institutions, is unheard of. The Chinaman re mains with us, and crowds the American nome from amongst us, only so long as it is profitable for him to do so. The question permanency in the country, and the upmilding of our institutions, forms no part f the plans he considers. He is here to ve upon us, not to contribute to us. To refuse to make the residence of such an element profitable to it, is a short method to the means of riddance. The difficulty that so many of our people live for the resent only, and take little or no concern or the future. Posterity has no claims upon them; sufficient unto the day are the hours thereof, is their maxim. When we shall, as a rule, give the preference to the people of our own race, and those whom ve can absorb into our system, in the purhase of our vegetables, our household applies, our wearing apparel and our axuries, we shall strike a blow at Chinese immigration which it cannot resist. The Chinese have entered upon the boycotting American manufacturers Is it not nov elearly justifiable to resist by like methods? THE Oakland Tribune concludes that the age of burlesque has had its run, and that we are approaching one of solid sense. We should say that we are already in its midst. The reading public no more seeks musement in the efforts that characterzed such writers as Josh Billings with his rude proverbial philosophy; Artemus Ward and his nonsensical witticisms; Maor Jones and his absurd caricatures upon Southern life; or even Mark Twain with ais forced wit spiced with some real, purenetal humor-but not enough of which nters into the composition to make it aduringly relishable. The reading pub c of the day for a time may tolerate Nasby, because his coarse wit is seasoned with political wisdom, and his overcolor is not to be mistaken. Slang has not had its full day, nor is it probable that it will be wholly eliminated from our literature. It has its uses, and behind it is a satisfying element, since the extravagance of Ameri can methods of expression demand something of that kind. But the reading publie of this day is improving in its tastes and broadening its desires. This is testified to by the publishing world, which the essential of daring in the management no longer finds coarse wit and burlesque to be veins of great profit.

To THE non-military mind the distinct tion drawn by General Hazen between men of an army department "expressing their grievances" and the act of holding a meeting and "combining to express their grievances" is so very fine as to be all but ndistinguishable. Certain Signal Service enlisted men are abused and insulted by a uperior officer. That their cause was just is established, for the officer has been reprimanded. But the men "assembled" and made a joint protest against the acts of the officer, and sent up their document to the head of the department. For this they are now arraigned in Court-martial. This is not because they protested, says General Hazen, but because they combined to protest, which is in the nature of mutiny. It may be and is probably all right, but the first movement of the American to resist wrong is to call his fellows into mass meeting and pass resolutions. These Signal Service men followed the traditional American custom, and probably without a thought of infringing any of the red tape rules of the military department. The idea of their ever being punished is unthinkable.

BRIEF NOTES.

Beginning with THIS MORNING, we shall offer for sale a lot of SILK-FACED VELVETS of various widths and in several shades, 47 cents.

The New Convenience.

The new system of Letter-box orders for local trade promises to become a very useful convenience.

There is no necessity of explaining how frequently small items of personal or household use are needed in every family, or the steps, bother and loss of time entailed in making a special trip to a store for their purchase. Under the new system all one has to do is to write down their wants and drop the order in our nearest box. The contents of the boxes are collected four times a day, and the goods sent out as soon as possible after the orders reach us. People can scarcely realize what a convenience this is till they have once tried it.

If in need of some trifle to-day, why not give the new system a test?

Strong Attractions in Silks.

We are having a strong and steady trade in Silks, the result undoubtedly of the attractions presented in that line of goods. Perhaps the three things of chief interest at present are:

First—The Black French Dress Silks (guaranteed not to cut or crack), $1 25, $1 50, $1 75.

Second-The Colored Gros-Grains, in all the fashionable shades, $1 to $1 50. Colored Brocades to match, $1 to $1 75.

Third—The Black Rhadames, at $1, $1 25 to $2. The French Colored Rhadames, $1 15 and $1 50.

WALKING STICKS.

A large assortment of Walking Sticks direct from the East. Most of these Canes are samples, and therefore scarcely any two are alike. The collection includes everything from common Bamboo to fine Ivory Hardwood Sticks, at prices ranging from 10 cents to $3 50.

THE "HOME SEEKER." The Immigration Association of Northera California is now preparing to issue the October number of the "HOME SEEKER." It is to be enlarged, and fully illustrated with lithographic views of Northern California. It will contain practical information of the resources and advantages of the Northern Coun-ties. All the proceeds of this publication will be devoted to the carrying on or immigration work. We appeal to the business men of the Northern part of the State to give it their advertising support. By so doing, the work of bringing an increase of population to the State will be carried on. At Ogden a copy will be put in the hands of each incoming passenger. In addition to this, several thousand copies will be dis-tributed on the trains leaving Chicago,

New York, October 29th .- During several weeks past there has been much spec-ulation in the minds of New Yorkers as to whether Grant's body would remain here, or be removed from the State. These doubts grew out of the recent published statement, attributed to Hon. J. B. Chaffee, to the effect that the family of General Grant did not wish the General's body to remain in this city, and that Congress, at its next session, would take action in the matter. In order to matter, the congress of t matter. In order to make sure about the matter, the Grant Monument Association decided to take action, and on the 16th instant Mayor Grace, its Vice-President, wrote a letter to Mrs. Grant, stating the rumors at some length, saying they were likely to interfere seriously with the raising of funds for the monument, and asking her to make a definite and positive state-ment on the subject, to be given to the public. Her reply is appended:

New York, October 29th.

Dear Sir: Your letter of the 16th came during my absence, and was seen on my return from Long Branch. Riverside was selected by myself and family as the burial place of my husband, General Grant, first, because I believed New York was his preference; second, it is nearer the residence I hope to occupy as long as I live, and where I will be able to visit his resting-place often; third, I have believed, and am now convinced, that the tomb will be visited by as many of his countrymen here as it would in any other place, and fourth, the offer of a park in New York was the first which observed, and unreservedly, the only condition imposed by General Grant himself, namely, that I should have a place by his side. I am, sir, very respectfully,

New Internal Revenue Regulations. Washington, October 29th.—The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has prepared a new series of regulations in regard to the exportation of spirits in bond, by which it is provided that spirits distilled i the United States, which were exported in good faith, and which can be identified, will, when re-imported, be subject to duty of 90 cents per proof or wine gallon on the quantity actually contained in each package. When they cannot be identified, the duty will be the same as on foreign spirits. But, if it should be found that the exportation in any case had not been made good faith, the tax of 90 cents per proof or wine gallon will be assessed on the total quantity withdrawn, under the export bond from the distilling warehouse, All bond, from the distilling warehouse. All cases of doubt as to good faith will be referred to the Secretary of the Treasury.

Mint, has submitted to the Secretary of the Treasury his annual report of the opera-tions of the Mints and Assay Offices of the United States for the fiscal year ended June

In his annual report the Director of the Mint calls attention to the necessity for im-proved facilities for the storage of coin and bullion at the Mints. The saving effected at the San Francisco Mint since July 1, 1885, by a reduction of the force, amounted to an annual decrease of $35,000. At the Carson Mint the entire force of workmen, and a large portion of the officers, have een dispensed with. Rear Admiral De Krafft, who died to day, entered the service in 1841, served during the war with distinction, and was promoted from the grade of midshipman

Jerome Park Races. EROME PARK, October 29th.—The races to-day were run in a steady down-pour of rain, and gloomy and depressing as the outlook was, it was rendered still more so by an accident in the first race. Maggie J. fell, and one after another Brookwood. Sam Brown and Stonebuck followed, and with their jockeys made a decidedly miscellaneous heap. Brookwood was killed, and his jockey, Potter, probably fatally hurt. Three-quarters of a mile: Florence . won, Richmond second, Choctaw third Time, 1:18‡. An American Westminster Abbey. The conditions which made, and mak Westminster Abbey are wholly lacking In the first place, we ought to have a single London, instead of six or seven, each vocif erously claiming to be the only origina genuine London, the one bright particular should be erected. In the second place, such an institution should be under the ægis of a great established church, in default of which our Pantheor would ultimately become the receptacle extinct pugilists and those local state room counters for the toils (and spoils) of public life. With each change of the administration there would be a revo-lution in the management of the Pan-theon, and a cry of "Turn the rascals out!" With the straight Republicans in office, no horrible Mugwump, however distinguished, would be allowed sancer, the gates would be pitilessly slammed on the noses of defunct "offensive partisans." In the third place, the tomb at
